Unpack This Weekend's Gospel Reading

Unpack the Gospel: Matthew 4:12–23

Our reading begins with the account of what happened after the arrest of John the Baptist. With the decline of John, Jesus's rise will begin. Next, we see Jesus calling his first disciples, who come immediately from their work and abandon everything to answer his summons. Jesus begins in Galilee, called Galilee of the Gentiles in Matthew's version of Isaiah 9:1. That Jesus should begin a "reconquest" of Israel in the same area where Assyria had begun its conquest of the northern kingdom 750 years earlier is significant—particularly since the ten northern tribes had ceased to exist for all practical purposes. This is just the first of many signals in Matthew's Gospel that Jesus has come to reconstitute Israel. His choice of twelve apostles, who he says will judge the twelve tribes of Israel, is the clearest indication of this (Matthew 19:28). The journey from Galilee to Jerusalem will have its counterpart in the life of the Church when the disciples are told to return to Galilee from Jerusalem after the Resurrection for a meeting with the risen Lord and as a prelude to their own ministry of proclaiming the Gospel. Matthew's Gospel describes a circuit which is closed at its end but opens onto the future of the Church as well.

This episode is a lesson on prayer—our conversations with our Lord.

FORMED®

PICK OF THE WEEK

January 28 is the feast day of Saint Thomas Aquinas. In celebration, Matt Fradd sits down with Peter Kreeft as he shares 12 quick stories about Saint Thomas Aquinas.

Pints With Aquinas 12 Stories about Aquinas

LISTEN ON FORMED.ORG

POWERED BY THE AUGUSTINE INSTITUTE®

Watch the short Opening the Word video on FORMED. Then reflect and discuss this question with a friend or use a journal:

What would it take for you to leave your “fishing nets” and follow the Lord with your whole heart?

PRAYER & RESOLUTION

PRAYER:

Imagine that you are working alongside Peter and Andrew. You see a man walking along the shore. He stops and begins talking. What is he saying? What is he talking about? All of a sudden, he says to Peter and Andrew, “Come after me and I will make you fishers of men.” What is your reaction to those words? Now see Peter and Andrew putting down their nets and getting ready to walk off with this man, Jesus. What are you feeling? What do you do? As they walk away, Jesus turns back and looks directly at you. “Come, too,” he says. “Come with us. Come with me.” What do you say? What do you do?

RESOLUTION:

This week, listen for the ways that Jesus is asking you to “come and follow.” When you hear his prompting, stop, pay attention, and do what he is telling you to do.
